Addendum to the Disclosure Document of Portfolio Management Services being offered by Geojit Financial Services Limited published on 29.05.2024

In addition to the existing four Portfolio strategies, we offer to our clients, a new PMS offering – “Geojit Beacon Portfolio”.

SEBI Registration Number: INP000003203

(i) Investment Objective

Beacon portfolio being a Flexi cap fund would invest across all market caps. The objective is to take advantage of the stability of large-cap funds while leveraging opportunities to yield more returns from small and mid-caps. However, irrespective of the market cap, the aim is to invest in high quality growth companies to ensure long term wealth creation happens at low to moderate risk. The fund will be managed with the objective of capital appreciation over medium to long term and not for regular income generation for investors.

(ii) Type of investable securities

Beacon portfolio will invest only in listed equities, which are listed either on BSE or NSE. However the surplus funds in the portfolio would be parked in liquid mutual funds. Outside of this, the fund doesn't intend to invest in unlisted stocks or any derivative instruments.

(iii) Basis of selection of securities

Stocks selection process would be a blend of “TOP DOWN” and “BOTTOMS UP” approach. Sector selection would be driven by the top down approach and stock selection would be driven by the bottoms up approach. Through the bottoms up approach, stock would be selected based on own merits which involves both business and financial parameters. Business parameters would include points like market share, pricing power etc. Financial parameters would include ROE/ROCE, leverage and cash flow analysis amongst others. The Investment team would also be guided by an Investment Universe and all equity investments has to be in stocks which form part of the universe. The investment universe would be periodically reviewed on a 6 monthly basis and addition/ deletion would be done in consonance with the investment committee.

(iv) Allocation across selection of securities

Of the total portfolio corpus, not more than 10% will be invested in a single stock and not more than 20% will be invested in a single sector (except BFSI). In the event, the sector/ stock limits are breached, action would be taken within a reasonable time frame.

(v) Appropriate benchmark for each approach and the basis for choice of benchmark.

Scheme performance will be evaluated against a pre-identified Benchmark Index. Geojit Beacon Portfolio is bench marked with BSE500 Index.

(vi) Indication of tenure of investment approach

Investments would be driven by medium to long term time horizon. The objective is to benefit from compounding of earnings and not by high frequency churning. However, if required, quick portfolio actions could be taken to preserve portfolio performance from unsystematic risks (either at the stock or market level).

(vii) Risk Associated with Investment approach

The risks could be largely bucketed under 2 heads – fundamental and non-fundamental risks. In the former, there could be risks associated with slowdown in business, risk of disruption or high financial leverage amongst others. In the latter case, there could be risks associated with market like high volatility or low liquidity amongst others.

A strong investment strategy which focusses on high quality growth companies should be better placed to manage these risks. In any event, the fund management team is well geared to assess these risks on regular basis and take appropriate action as required at the appropriate time.

(viii) Features

- A single fund that provides exposure across market cap spectrum
- A well-diversified portfolio of high quality growth companies
- Flexibility to pivot the portfolio considering the current economic/ market cycles
- Focus on providing superior risk adjusted returns

(ix) Benefits

- Potential of long-term capital growth.
- Portfolio manager takes full charge of investment decisions.
- Ensures efficient management and swift reaction as circumstances dictate.
- Regular reports are provided.
